

THE PRESENTER

Gregg Zulauf has taught science in a variety of settings for over 30 years. He is an inventor of science education activities and equipment. Mr. Zulauf has produced innovative science programs as a Math Science Center director. Mr. Zulauf has presented countless workshops, seminars and ongoing classes for teachers of science preK-12. He holds several distinguished education awards and honors. He was recently inducted as an honorary member of the Michigan Aviation Hall of Fame for his work in aerospace education.

MASTERING SIMPLE MACHINES

The One-Day Hands-On Workshop

The one-day Mastering Simple Machines workshop empowers teachers of physical science to help students discover and apply the basic principles of simple machines. Teachers will use the Master Simple Machine Station[®] invented by the instructor, to discover valuable teaching methods. Teachers are not required to own a Master Simple Machine Station[®] to benefit from this experience.

EDUCATORS ATTENDING THIS WORKSHOP WILL:

- Receive a 100-page workbook useable with any simple machine equipment
- Experience the "three levels of learning" required for mastering simple machines
- Learn to identify simple machines by how they function, not by how they look
- Discover the "fifth" simple machine that should be taught to all science students
- Experience highly effective teaching strategies that motivate students
- Experience the "Discovery Method" of instruction for maximum student learning
